Most popular with the people these days are the cool and daring American pilots who have conducted successful bombing raids on the Japanese in the Philippines and on the major cities of the Japanese islands themselves. The former have been acknowledged and thoroughly praised by the government and the high command in the Pacific; the latter we know about only through reports emanating from the Axis—notably Radio Tokyo.

There can be no question but what the Japs got a taste of U. S. bombs right in their own front yard, but it does seem peculiar that they can't definitely fix the blame, considering the fact they claim to have shot down nine of the raiders. Surely the little brown brothers have copied enough American aviation equipment to recognize it when they see it — right in their laps, so to speak. And it is worrying them silly. Anyway, no matter where the planes came from and where they went, they did a very classy piece of work, and one that can't be repeated too soon, provided, of course, U. S. airmen have figured out a way to do it without too great a sacrifice. No matter how good these raids make the public feel, they don't pay out unless we find ourselves on the long end of the score. So we shouldn't be too impatient for a repeat performance.

Undoubtedly, the Japs, will in order to save face, make a real effort to return the compliment. They might even go so far as to send a so-called suicide squadron in from a carrier far out at sea in order to "get even." This is a serious threat, and should not be taken too lightly by anyone living on the west coast of North America.

Santa Clara county, I believe, has one of the best organized civilian defense programs in the state. And Campbell, a unit of the county organization, has the local situation well in hand. Right now it seems the only thing lacking is a bigger roster to draw from to man the airplane spotter station here. If anyone of you has a few spare hours that you could give regularly every two weeks, please get in touch with Herbert Hudson, Dr. W. I. Merrill, Harold Drummond or Paul Becker, who are in charge of the station.

In view of recent events, and those that are surely on the way, it would seem that San Francisco, surely on the list of our enemy's proposed targets, would bury the hatchet and try to get itself better organized. It is no secret that air raid drills at San Francisco schools have been terrible fiascoes, and it also seems that, with all the buck-passing, no one is able to place the blame where it belongs.

Of course, the problem of disposing of thousands of school children during a bombing raid presents something of a problem, and no solution would satisfy everybody. It does seem, however, that a better system could be devised for notifying school authorities promptly of the imminence of a raid. And that the school authorities could figure out better protection for their charges than turning them loose on the streets—even if parents have requested they be sent home in case of emergency. The chances of getting hurt in a school building are good enough, considering the Japs' proclivity for such targets, but I wonder if a youngster wouldn't be better off in the building, under his desk, than he would be dodging traffic and bomb fragments in the streets while trying to get home — where, after all, he might find no one, and the house locked up completely.

Campbell Boys Doing Their Part

Model aircraft building for the United States Navy is well under way by the boys at Campbell High school.

These model planes, built to scale, will be used in training air and ground personnel and in exchange the students will acquire skill and technical information in making model aircraft.

Several of the boys are working toward a rating that they receive for completing a number of successful models, built from the approved plans with which they are supplied.

Campbell High School Boys' Jinx Holds Spotlight

One of the biggest sporting events of this month will take place in the Campbell High school gymnasium Friday, April 24 at 2:30 p. m., when the Boys' Athletic club will present its annual boxing and wrestling show to build up its injury fund.

The program features some real evenly matched opponents in both events. At 126 pounds, Toyama, Northern California High school champion will meet Tamborino, which should prove a good match for the champ. At 135 pounds, Jerrald will meet Ornellas. The Miranda vs. Mancuso fracas will be one of those "pick the winner yourself" affairs. Mancuso is the Northern California High school champion at his weight but Miranda is capable of doing the always expected upset.

Benech, runner up in the state meet, matches Ralph Vick. All the above matches are of the Simon pure quality, however. Johnson and Rhode have been practicing a routine on the professional side (or how not to do it), which should prove a crowd pleasure.

The boxing program arranged by promoter John Williams, brings together some real fighters. The Tressler vs. Cushman bout should see Cushman come through with a win over his less experienced opponent. McCorkle and Payne is a rematch from last year. Last year the boys went to a draw. Fox vs. Friatas at 160 pounds will be "the" one to watch. Fox, a classy "switch" boxer, meets a rugged boy in Freitas. Anderson vs. Koener is another natural. The Doc say's he's in shape. Koener never says much but has impressed in workouts. Other bouts include Sanford vs. Garcia, Wheeler vs. Boston, McCarthy vs. Jacobsen, and Sargent vs. Wall.

The bouts start at 2:30 p. m., and admission will be 15c for all students and 25c for adults. As a further added attraction, Bob Eldridge and his swing band will render a little soothing music. The public is invited.

The Jinx committee hopes that students, parents, and the public will attend the show and help the boys build up the injury fund to which all proceeds of this event will go.

TB Association To Meet April 30

Public School Week

DESPITE THE growing pressure of wartime duties upon the time of all citizens, despite the swingover of American energy from peacetime functions and enterprises to the urgent business of war, Public School Week will be observed with even greater than normal attention and appreciation this year, from all reports. Civic, labor, industrial and religious organizations are preparing to help educators stress the vital role of the public school in our democratic way of life throughout the nation from April 27 to May 1. In Campbell, April 30 is the date.

The public schools will never build a bomber or fashion a machine gun; but they are the most potent weapon America has for training youth to lead in building a finer America on the debris of today's sad world carnage. The invention of printing liberated the mind of the common man from the prison of illiteracy. And the free public school has given every man opportunity for the education necessary to intelligent self-government.

When the depression was at its blackest, and forced economies were effecting curtailment of many public services, California permitted no lowering of standards in the public schools. Even more necessary today are the best possible schools to bulwark the faith and ethics of our democracy against unknown storms of the future.

Wartime Advertising

ANNOUNCING the largest newspaper advertising campaign in the history of his company, a brewing concern head declared: "We are looking forward to our best year. Not only have we found that more people are reading newspapers now than ever before, but we know that newspaper advertising results in immediate sales increase."

That advertiser knows full well that war drains will leave people with less money to spend for luxuries, including beer. But he also knows that it is the bold, aggressive merchant, stepping up his advertising in face of adverse conditions, who takes the business which timid, retrenching competitors lose.

Advertising is indispensable only when business is hard to get—and that is why it can be predicted now that businessmen who advertise will be in business after the war, as well as for the duration!

The dispute still rages in Congress over means of achieving labor peace for the duration. There is, of course, no dearth of bills intended to bring this about But in the natural haste to fill legislative hoppers with cure-alls, it should not be forgotten that voluntary labor-management agreements may yet provide the soundest solution. Unless there is an honest desire for peace, and a firm determination to avoid labor strife present in the first place, all the peace measures in the world will fall short of the goal.

America Calling

IT'S AMERICA calling—calling for a gigantic mobilization of working manpower to back up the battle lines of free nations throughout the world.

The fourth R-Day period, for registering all men between the ages of 45 and 65, will fall on April 25, 26, and 27. In California, 500 new registration places will be added to the present 284 selective services offices.

This new army of registrants will not be called into the armed services. But they will supply a thorough and long needed catalogue of the skills, training and experience of millions of craftsmen, engineers, scientists and administrators. As younger men now employed in war industries are called to the colors, men of the fourth R-Day will fill their places. This comprehensive inventory should prevent Army and production officials from working at cross-purposes. Henceforth, it should be evident what workers should be deferred on the grounds of indispensability, and what ones can be replaced by men from the older age group

The fourth R-Day gives men past actual fighting age a chance to join the battle along the production line at the job for which they are most needed and best suited. Remember the dates—April 25, 26, 27!

A Million Mothers' Courage

ONE NIGHT last week the English comedienne, Beatrice Lillie, gave an exceptionally brilliant performance at the Manchester opera house. Her role — the hit of the show — is a hip-twitching burlesque of Carmen Miranda singing "The South American Way."

The audience never knew that just before Beatrice Lillie went on to do her turn she read a government telegram informing her that her son, Sir Robert Peel, a boy of 21, had been lost in service at sea. She pinned a note to the cast on the bulletin board, simply asking that no one say anything to her about the tragedy.

After the show, she said: "There is nothing I can say about it. There are so many other mothers—millions of mothers — going through what I am going through. There is nothing else to do. We cannot quit."

The courage of a million men in battle can never excell the courage of millions of mothers in quiet anguish at home.

The Stiffo Storm Troops

MEN WHO CAN fight booze should go fight the Japs. That is the stand of the draft board of Roxbury, Massachusetts, on draft-deferred "chronic-alcoholics." The board wrote to Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey last week:

"If you cannot see where there is a place for them in the Army of today—why not create a regiment or division of their own? We do not condone drunkenness. Yet while we do not believe alcohol a part of the diet of the fighter, still history is replete with fighting men who drank."

History—the history of Monday morning police court sessions for week-end party boys—also is replete with drinking men who fought at the drop of a hat. What if the town drunks of ten thousand burgs were enlisted together as the Elbow-Bending Engineers or Rum Pot Rifles or Stiffo Storm Troops and sent against the foe? Properly fortified, they might make military history. The grog some of them drink would make a rabbit snap at a wolf. The man who has survived the monsters and terrors of the D. T.'s might take the severe ordeals of battle in stride. Such a brigade might stagger through to victory under inspiration of the prospect of placing all Tokio saloons under martial law.

That Roxbury board may have a thought!

They were launched just four months and six days after their keels were laid—two more potent answers to Hitler, Hirohito & Co.

Kiwanians "Hear Themselves" at Club Meeting

The history of recording machines and making of records was related to the Kiwanis club Tuesday in an interesting talk given by Peter Mingrone of the San Jose State college faculty.

He made recordings of the members voices and played them so they could "hear themselves as others do." As a surprise feature he had recorded the opening ceremonies and played them.

Carl Field, Jr., explained the activities and functions of the model airplane constructions being conducted at the high school as a part of a state wide project for the government.

Next Tuesday's meeting coming in Public School Week, the program will be entirely in charge of and presented by students of the high school.

Dan Clark Will Go to Boys' State

Dan Clark has been selected as representative from the Campbell High school to attend the sixth California Boys' State, sponsored by American Legion posts, to be held this year at Davis, June 20-27.

For the third year the Willow Glen Legion post is sponsoring a student from Campbell, for whom they pay all expenses.

Selections are made on the basis of general scholarship, general student body activities, and interest in government.

Heretofore the sessions have been held in Sacramento but this year it was moved to Davis because of war conditions. There each boy is assigned to a "city area" and as a "resident" he performs all the functions of an adult citizen with respect to government. They also engage in contests and sports and supervised entertainment during the period.

Here is a kitchen scene that will be duplicated in thousands of California homes this Spring and Summer. This busy little woman has her Gas Range on active duty canning and preserving the fruits and berries and vegetables that are in seasonal abundance right now.

Is YOUR Gas Range ready for this extra cooking chore, too? Make sure it is getting the best of care.

Make sure that it is in good repair. There are busy days ahead for you and your kitchen.
